The day Muhammad Ali saw a UFO...

Beyond his achievements in the boxing ring, Muhammad Ali, the legendary icon, also made his mark in the realm of unexplained phenomena. Ali reported having observed an unidentified flying object (UFO), an experience that added a mysterious dimension to his public persona.

Muhammad Ali, born Cassius Clay, is recognized not only for his exceptional boxing talent but also for his charisma and bold stances. However, few people know that the man regarded as "The Greatest" was also an avid sky watcher, convinced of the existence of UFOs.

The notable event reportedly occurred in 1970, while Ali was on his morning jog with his trainer, Angelo Dundee, in Central Park, New York. According to Ali's account, they spotted a bright, unusual light in the sky. Ali described the UFO as a gigantic, silent, disc-shaped object moving with a speed and agility that defied the terrestrial technologies of the time.

In an interview with journalist Timothy Green Beckley, Ali recounted his experience with a mix of fascination and certainty. "I saw this UFO with my own eyes. It was there, hovering silently above us, before suddenly disappearing," he stated. Ali also revealed that he had several other UFO sightings throughout his life, which strengthened his belief in the presence of extraterrestrial intelligence.

The boxer was known for his curious and open mind, and this UFO experience resonated with his broader beliefs about life and the universe. "I believe the universe is too vast for us to be the only ones living in it. There must be other forms of life out there," he often said.
