

The terrifying prophecy of Mother Shipton about coronavirus...

Mother Shipton

Ursula Southel (1488-1561), better known as Mother Shipton is one the most famous English soothsayer and prophetess. According to some people, she predicted the Coronavirus pandemic...

The “Yorkshire witch” was born in Knaresborough in a cave. She was reputed to be hideously ugly. She married Toby Shipton, a local carpenter, near York in 1512. Throughout her life, she made predictions.

Now, researchers have found some references to COVID-19 in the prophecies of Mother Shipton. Here the complete prediction about Coronavirus:

*And yellow people get more power
From the mighty bear with whom they lay.
But these mighty tyrants can't do anything
They will not be able to divide the world into two parts.
For danger arises from their actions –
A terrible fever, leaving many dead.
And doctors won't find a cure
For the disease will be worse than leprosy.*

“Yellow people” refers to Chinese people and the “terrible fever leaving many dead” will be the coronavirus. The onset of COVID-19 will be a sign of terrible events:

*When moving pictures seem alive
When boats like fish swim under the sea,
When people, like birds, will cut through the sky
Then half of the world, drenched in blood, will die.
Those who survive the century
Will be in awe and awe
Many will flee to the mountains, to the forests and hide in the swamps
Slowly they will die out*

*Searching for diminishing streams of water
 Many will die of thirst earlier
 Than the oceans rise to the shore.
 Fire dragon cross the sky
 Six times before this earth dies
 Humanity will tremble and be scared
 Until the sixth herald in this prophecy.
 Seven days and seven nights
 A person will watch this amazing sight.
 The tides will rise beyond
 The shores will begin to crumble
 Mountains will roar
 And earthquakes will split the plains.
 And floods of water rushing
 Flood all the lands with a roar
 Having buried humanity in a dirty swamp
 And a man will roar at his brethren.
 He will bare his teeth, he will fight and kill
 Fighting for food supplies
 Hidden in secret hills
 Not every soul on earth will die.
 As the tail of the Dragons passes by.
 Not every earth on the planet will sink
 But plants, bodies of people and animals
 Will roll around
 They will rot, crunch under your feet and stink.*

So, by reading these lines, we can say that our futur will be terrifying and hopeless...

Sources

- Prophecies of the Yorkshire Witch: Signs of Imminent Days? - www.soulask.com

Prophecy and 2012 - 6 décembre 2020 - Rael2012 - CC-BY 3.0