

A mysterious sea monster found in 1927 in Old Bar

On Saturday 1st October 1927, a mysterious sea monster was found on a beach of Old Bar, a seaside resort about 10 miles from Taree (in the state of New South Wales, Australia).

The weird creature had a head looking like a bull-frog. It had large eyes and a very small mouth without teeth and it had no tail. Its coarse fins measured about three feet long and his belly was strangely shaped. On the side, its fins was like elephants ears allowing it to swim into the deep.

According to witnesses, the animal weighed about 15 cwt. Even now, nobody successfully identified this unbelievable creature.
