

A surprising UFO filmed in March 2017 by NASA

In March 2017, a white and black UFO was filmed by the cameras of the International Space Station.

The ufologist Scott C. Waring explains:

“Now this same video was circulating for a few years, but this is the first time that I have heard that NASA takes credit for it truly happening. This white alien craft flew near the ISS during a spacewalk so that they can see the human astronaut in action. Watching on computer screens is not like really being there...and aliens think so too. There are a lot of UFOs in space, a lot of species with space faring capabilities. Maybe one day humanity will join them on other planets, moons and systems.”
