A huge tower discovered on Mars

In January 2022, a huge and mysterious tower was discovered on the planet Mars. Was this building built by an alien civilization?

Scott C. Waring, a famous ufologist, used Google Mars when he found a strange and unusual structure. Is a proof that Mars was inhabited by a civilization?

He explains:

"There is a tower on the planet Mars. Its on all the versions of Google Mars map...there are seven...but one of them wont allow it visible...the most clear of them. The version choices are on the far left on the map.

When I measured this tower, it was over 6km tall! Thats amazing! No mountain could ever exist that was so tall and thin. This was created by intelligent beings, far more advanced than humans. This tower is so big, it could hold over tens of thousand of people in it. Its its been abandoned, its a perfect structure for humans to take over and adapt the alien technology so that humans can survive on Mars.

This isn't the only structure on Mars. There are thousands of structures many kilometers across. NASA has been hiding it to keep China and Russia from finding out and thus creating a race to Mars to take over some of these ancient cities. The country that does...will be a world power for centuries to come."
