

The body of a humanoid discovered on Mars

On February 3, 2022, the body of an alien was found on Mars and photographed by NASA's rover...

In the photos released by the US space agency, we can see what looks like the lifeless body of a humanoid. For the ufologist, Scott C. Waring, it is, without a doubt, an extraterrestrial who lived, countless years ago, on this planet. He explains on his blog:

“Everyone here knows I love to comb through NASA photos. Well, I came across something unique...something that is 100% proof of intelligent life. There is a person laying down watching the NASA Mars rover from a safe distance away. The person is about 1 foot tall, .3 meters and is laying down, pinkish upper chest, neck and face, radish hair, wearing a dark suit, but has a grey object over one shoulder...looks like a backpack of some sort. There are even footprints behind the person leading up to the location they chose to lay down at.”
