

A mysterious black triangle seen in China

In a startling and enigmatic incident that took place on May 16, 2020, in Changchun, China, an astonishing number of 50 witnesses reported witnessing an unidentified flying object (UFO). The incident has now been documented on the website of the National UFO Reporting Center (NUFORC), bringing renewed attention to the phenomenon.

At approximately 18:30 local time, in the vicinity of the Yitong River in Changchun, observers were treated to a spectacle that defied conventional explanation. The reported UFO took the form of a large black triangle, distinctly lacking windows or any identifiable markings.

What set this sighting apart were the blinking red lights situated at each of its three corners. These lights added to the already eerie nature of the object, as they rotated silently in the evening sky, causing a collective gasp of astonishment among the onlookers.

A Moment of Collective Wonder

The witness, who was taking an evening walk by the Yitong River at the time, described hearing a chorus of excitement from behind. He turned around to face the unexpected source of this awe-struck reaction, and that's when he laid eyes on the mysterious black triangle hovering ominously in the air.

Speculation ran rampant among the observers as they tried to make sense of what they were seeing. Initially, some wondered if it could be a drone, given the increasing prevalence of such technology. However, the UFO's behavior quickly ruled out that possibility.

Swift and Puzzling Departure

After a period of silent hovering, the enigmatic object suddenly ceased its rotation and made a remarkable move. It ascended into the night sky, not in a straight line, but with a slight deviation to the north, disappearing from view with astonishing speed. This rapid and unexpected departure only added to the intrigue surrounding the sighting.

Investigation and Ongoing Curiosity

As is often the case with UFO sightings, this incident raises numerous questions and sparks a sense of curiosity and wonder among those who encounter such phenomena. While this sighting over Changchun, China, has been shared on the NUFORC website, it remains an unsolved mystery, serving as a reminder of the vastness of the unexplored and unexplained in our world.

For the witnesses, the memory of that evening walk by the Yitong River will undoubtedly remain etched in their minds as they ponder the extraordinary sight they were fortunate (or perhaps, unfortunate) enough to behold.

Sources

- nuforc.org

U.F.O. - 29 septembre 2023 - Rael2012 - CC BY 2.5