

A Cigar-Shaped UFO Spotted in Guadalupe, Mexico

A silver, cigar-shaped unidentified flying object (UFO) was spotted in the clear skies of Guadalupe around 10:30 in the morning. The witness, a driver traveling along Avenue de la Zanja in the Villa de San Miguel neighborhood, described a striking and puzzling experience.

According to the witness, the object, estimated to be the size of a Boeing, moved slowly and silently at an altitude between 300 and 500 meters. Its trajectory followed a north-south direction at an approximate speed of 300 km/h. The UFO, with its elongated metallic cigar-like shape, showed no visible wings or propellers.

Curious about the unusual sighting, the witness quickly checked the Flight Radar 24 app to verify if any conventional aircraft were nearby. To their surprise, no matching flight appeared on the radar. "It was neither a plane nor a drone," the witness confidently stated.

Despite attempting to change position for a better view, the witness lost sight of the UFO, partially obscured by a three-story building. Moments later, the object had disappeared.

This event, reported to the National UFO Reporting Center (NUFORC), raises numerous questions and fuels ongoing debates about the possible presence of unidentified aerial phenomena in the region.
