

Hoer Verde, the Village that vanished, 600 people who suddenly disappeared!

In 1923, the village of Hoer Verde in Brazil became the center of a chilling mystery that remains unsolved to this day. Overnight, all 600 residents of the village vanished without a trace. When a rescue team arrived, they found the houses undisturbed, with meals still on the tables, but not a single person in sight. The only clue left behind was a cryptic message on a school blackboard that read: "There is no salvation." This mass disappearance has fueled numerous theories and speculations, ranging from alien abductions to supernatural events. Hoer Verde remains one of Brazil's greatest unsolved mysteries.
