

Reincarnation - Cameron Macaulay

Cameron Macaulay, a young boy from Scotland, gained attention for his remarkable stories about a past life. From a very early age, he vividly described memories of a previous life on the Isle of Barra, located hundreds of miles from his current home in Glasgow. Cameron spoke of a white house by the sea, a family, a dog, and even an accident that ended that life. As he grew older, his persistence led his mother to take him to Barra, where they found astonishing similarities to the details he had described, fueling the idea of possible reincarnation.
