

I died and asked Jesus about the end of the world during my NDE

The video tells the remarkable story of a 12-year-old's near-death experience, during which the child travels to heaven and meets Jesus. In this profound encounter, the child gains insights into the afterlife and the end times, witnessing the beauty of the New Jerusalem. However, the main message received is that living with love is far more important than knowing when the world will end. This inspiring journey offers hope and comfort, providing a glimpse into eternity that resonates with both believers and skeptics. It serves as a reminder to prioritize love and kindness in life.
